

"Sunset Dreams!"

By Jane Donohoe-Henry

Jane Donohoe Henry, a lifelong resident of Chester County, PA was proudly raised on a local mushroom farm and her roots run deep within the Kennett Square community and the mushroom industry personally and professionally and has a career spanning 27 years in the Kennett Consolidated School District. Jane's love of art enjoys supporting others and nurturing their artistic abilities while expressing their creativity through the arts. She actively organizes various charity events such as the annual "Painted Mushroom Silent Auction" which is her favorite to benefit various causes in the local community.

Alongside her husband, David Henry, she enjoys spending time with her four children, their partners and two beautiful grandchildren.

"As a passionate advocate for the arts and community causes, I enjoy organizing the painted mushroom exhibit showcasing the incredible art created by many talented local artists. This display not only showcases the beauty of our 'mushroom art' but also raises essential funds for local charities within the Kennett Community. I am proud to support these artists and I hope that you will find as much inspiration and delight in their work as I do! Thank you for visiting the Painted Mushroom Silent Auction and for supporting my mission to make a positive impact in our community." - Jane Donohoe-Henry
