

"Diving into Different Worlds"

By Silke Hanson

I was born in Germany but since my family moved to the US in 2014 my home is Kennett Square. We are a typical family of four. Working mom and dad plus two boys, one a Senior at Unionville HS (2024-2025), and the other one just finished Penn State University. We love strolling through Kennett Square, visiting the new library, eating Kennett's best ice cream at 'La Michoacana', and of course hanging out at the Creamery with our funny labradoodle Ruby.

As a child I discovered all kinds of art - I was always creative, painting and drawing. I went to an Art and Design School after High School in Germany. For me, art is a universal language that allows us to connect no matter where we are from or what language we speak. I hope my art brings a smile to everyone's faces and a touch of joy to everyone's life. My love for travel and nature is easel-y the main source of inspiration for my paintings. I admire artists like Van Gogh, Hundertwasser, and many more. I strive to create pieces that transport my audience to these scenes and allow them to experience the magic for themselves. I love creating new ideas in my art pieces.

When I am not painting, I am working at Patton Middle School as a Spec Ed Para. It feels good to make a difference in children's lives.
